The Mishawaka Schools

THE EARLY HISTORY of the Mishawaka schools was evidently in accord with the times; very primitive and limited. It remained so, until about fifteen years ago, when an increase of school buildings was demanded by the incipient booming of the city.

The first school teaching in Mishawaka was carried on in a private home, which stood where the Farmers' & Merchants' Bank is now located. A small class of pupils was taught there as early as 1834, by a certain Miss Sheldon. The first school building was built one year later, on what is now the northwest corner of Union and Fourth streets. This was a small frame building consisting of one room. The first teacher was Miss Thatcher, who taught there for three years. A Select School was opened in 1843, by George Merrifield in the Methodist church. The church was located on Main Street, but was destroyed by the fire of 1872. In 1844, a scholarly man by the name of Butts, began a school in a building which stood where the home of M. W. Mix is now located.

The first school made of brick was built in 1848, on South Main street, just north of the New York Central railroad tracks. This five room edifice was known as Institute No. 1. Mr. Butts, who had formerly maintained his own school, was at this time employed by the city as superintendent. He had three assistants. Jacob Merrifield, Jefferson Merrifield, and Miss Skinner. Just to get an idea of the salaries, Mr. Jefferson Merrifield was paid sixty-eight dollars every three months. In 1854, Mr. Foster was employed as principal of the school at $850 per year. One assistant received forty dollars every three months, and another six dollars a week. Institute No. 1 was used until 1868, when the so-called High School was built. This $50,000 building, which is now known as Main School, was the pride of the 1,800 people of Mishawaka.

Mr. Vincent Brunner, who has been writing a History of Mishawaka, tells of a fire in the early seventies which broke out in the High School. He was one of the boys who assisted to put it out by helping to pump the hand engine down at the creek which flowed where the Christian church now stands. At that time whenever there was a fire, the church bells rang, and the hand pump was run out of the hose house, and then manipulated by volunteers.

The first school on the north side of the river was situated in an oak grove. This was located about where the Clark's Metal Last Factory now stands. The school was later sold for fifty dollars. In 1866, where the new portion of Battell School is now situated, Mr. Abner Pettit built a two-story frame school. This building had only four rooms, but four years later, an addition was built on the north side of it. This school served as the North Side school until the Battell School was erected in 1900. Miss Philips had been and is the faithful principal. It was in the North Side school, and later in the Battell School that Miss Lydia Brinnsmaid taught for fifty years; in some cases through the third generation—until 1916. Bingham school was built in 1897. Mrs. Rose Grimes was the first principal. Miss Hannah Lindahl is principal there now.

During the last fifteen years, Mishawaka has been booming so, that more schools were necessary to accommodate the increased number of children. Within this period, not only have the South Side, Beiger, new section of Battell, Logan Street, and Portable schools been built, but also the High School which is in present use. In 1911, when the High School was first occupied, it was entirely adequate. However, an increased enrollment has urged the completion of the new High School, which will be ready for use next fall. The new High School is evidence of Mishawaka's great progress in education.

Within Our Walls

MISKODEED = Dear Alma Mater, M. H. S., Who guided us through peace and stress, Who watched our progress day by day, Who speeds us now upon our way, To thee we offer gratitude For thy great share in life's prelude.

Mr. P. C. EMMONS

Mr. Emmons, who has firmly established himself as superintendent of the Mishawaka school system, is a man of extensive experience. He served Kendallville for ten years before assuming his position here. Through his untiring efforts, Kendallville now boasts of one of the finest new high schools in the state. Since the students do not come in direct contact with the superintendent's office, but few realize that there is such a place. It is there, however, that Mr. Emmons tacitly regulates the entire school system just as the master clock regulates the minor ones. Then, too, it is through this office that the new Mishawaka High School is progressing so rapidly.

"An institution is the lengthened shadow of one man."—(Emerson).

(Emerson).

Mr. C. C. CAUBLE

Mr. Cauble has served faithfully as principal of the High School for three years. His conscientious attitude toward his responsibility has won the confidence and the respect of students and faculty.

The school feels the helpful influence of a principal with high ideals. Because Mr. Cauble's guidance and counsel are used in every phase of student activity, he is the busiest of busy men.

CLASS POEM

For many years we've lived and learned, And toiled toward goals as yet unknown, And found the place that study earned, Or mastered hated tasks alone.

The years that brought us friendships dear, And gave us countless hours of joy, Bring with their close ideals sincere And mem'ries nothing can destroy.

And tho' the time has come to part,
For each a different life to lead,
Our law "Be Square" will rule each heart,
And be itself sufficient creed.

Class History

It is within the walls of Mishawaka High School that a Golden Treasury of memories has accumulated for the class of '24. As we turn from page to page, we see recorded in that great memory book of our class, only the sunny hours. Each leaf seems fragrant with the sweetness of those four happy years. Our eyes close, while for a moment, we again dream over a few of the days that will be long remembered.

It all seems to have begun on the last

K. Gerard

It all seems to have begun on the last day of August in 1920, when "Father" Moran sent out from his fold. one hundred twenty-five seekers of knowledge, and hade them proceed southward to the seat of higher learning. The first day was the most difficult—especially for the boys who suffered because the Seniors tried to scare out their greenness. As time passed, the class became more accustomed to the ways of the school. Merrit Farrar was elected president. After the election of the class officers, an even greater event took place. A Halloween Masquerade was given, to which the Seniors were invited as guests.

The sophomore year revealed the great possibilities for the class of '24. Vincent Robinson, as president, proved a wise choice. He has always been an enthusiastic and capable booster of '24. In addition to a loyal president, helpful sponsors were chosen. Through their aid, "The New Lady of Bantock" was successfully dramatized. The play was coached by Miss Heimbach, while Miss Doyle, and Mr. and Mrs. Mueller assisted with the other phases of making the one night presentation a great

In the '21-'22 athletic season, the Sophomores showed promising material. "Kenny" Gerard was captain of the varsity basketball team, and also played first team football. "Tom" Fuson, Francis Kraus, L'ouis Dennis, Roscoe Marker and Virgil Reed were future possibilities in the realm of sports. The Sophs, with Tom Fuson as captain, won the interclass basketball tourney.

Buster Stearns and Kathryn Stout represented the class in the oratorical contest. The Sophomore party of the year, which was virtually speaking a dance, was held in February, in the high school auditorium.

The Juniors of the class of '24, reveled in their numerous activities. The policy of frequent "get-to-gether" parties was adopted. At Christmas time, an elaborate party was enjoyed, with the Seniors as guests. Miss Doyle showed her ingenuity in devising clever decorations and in planning the event. We were not to enjoy her long, however, because she was wiled away to Indianapolis. On March 8 and 9, the class play, "Daddy Longlegs," was presented with Mary Burnett and Francis Kraus interpreting the leading roles. The proceeds were carefully saved to help publish the Miskodeed the following year.

V. Robinson

The star athletes included those who had made a beginning when Sophomores, as well as Orrin Hiler, Ward Baker, and Leonard Fisher. The class basketball team won the championship in the school, and later outclassed all others, in a city-wide tourney.

As Juniors, the class also excelled in other activities. Milton Johnson, our editor-in-chief of the Miskodeed, was sent by the district to Bloomington, where he was in the finals of the State Discussion League Contest. Joe Farrar had the honor of competing in the county oratorical contest at South Bend. Throughout the year, Kenneth Gerard had served as president; Thomas Fuson, vice-president; Ardeen Wylie, secretary, and Ward Baker, treasurer.

It was in the senior year, however, that the class of '24 realized its greatest achievements. The same athletic heroes, who had been gradually developing, helped the school to come through a comparatively successful season. Kenneth Gerard was once again president.

The social phase was not neglected. The Senior Silly Sirens, under the efficient management of Tom Fuson, and the extraordinary cooperation of the whole

The social phase was not neglected. The Senior Silly Sirens, under the efficient management of Tom Fuson, and the extraordinary ecoperation of the whole class, was a huge suecess. The presentation of "Grumpy," which was a rather different type of play from the customary high school plays, was also a suecess. The Promenade was a great delight to all. The whole year second to work toward the climax of having the Miskodeen become a finished product. It was upon the annual that the class spent its last united efforts, thus appropriately closing an eventful course for four years through Mishawaka High School.

As we shall bend over that precious volume of memories for the class of '24, it will seem indeed a treasure as valuable as gold. We shall finger each page as if it were a rose which had once bloomed, but which is now earefully preserved where we may enjoy the fragrance of memory, rather than the freshness of reality.

Department of Vocational Education

The Vocational Department is organized to provide training for two groups of students who are found in the High School. The first group consists of boys who wish to secure a preparatory training for entering an engineering college. For this group, a Pre-Engineering course is offered. In this course, the boy takes mathematics, science, English, and shop work, with foreign language as an elective. A second group consists of boys who wish to learn a definite trade and may or may not wish to enter college. For this group, a course has been organized which is known as a Trade course. The boy taking this course is required to take the regular amount of English, mathematics and science, but in place of taking a variety of shop work, devotes all of his time to one trade. The object of this Trade course is to give the boy as much training and as good a start in learning some specific trade, as possible. With some additional work, the boy taking this trade course may earn the proper amount of credits for college entrance, and at the same time learn his trade.

Before the boy enters the Trade or the Pre-Engineering course, two years of work in what is known as the General or Variety shop during the seventh and eighth grade years is required. This general shop, of which there will be three in the school system next year, is a shop in which four or five different kinds of work are carried on under one instructor. The Battell School shop, which has been in operation for two years, has a unit of drafting, woodwork, sheet metal and electric, and two General shops, Machine and Plumbing. The object of the General shop is to give the boy an opportunity to try out several different kinds of work and to discover which he likes or dislikes. Upon entering the high school, the boy is given the opportunity of selecting two semesters of any one of two of the following shop courses: Drafting, Printing, Machine shop, Pattern shop, Wood shop and Electrical. These shop courses for Freshmen are what we call pre-vocational or short period classes. At the end of the freshman year, the boy may then choose either the Engineering or Trade course if he has not already made his choice.

Those who choose to take the Trade course are then admitted to the vocational classes which are three hours long per day. The other half of the day is spent in academic and related subjects. By having the short period, and the three hour period classes, we are able to take care of both Trade and Pre-Engineering students in the department. A total of about 300 boys is found in the shop and related subjects. Of these 124 have elected vocational courses, 46 are found in the Pre-Engineering course and 78 in the Trade course.

The work done in the various shops is of a useful and practical nature. The work of the Printing shop last year was valued at about $2700.00 all of which was used by the school system. The Drafting department has made a great many drawings for equipment, tools, and small machines which are being made for the schools. Besides this work, the department has made a number of drawings for purposes outside of school. The pattern shop has made a number of patterns from which castings are being made for equipment which is to be used in the new high school building. The wood shop has made a number of benches, cabinets, tables, trucks, bookcases etc., all of which will be used in the new building. The machine shop has made a number of small tools, such as punches, chisels, scribers, hammers, screw drivers, drift punches, bench vises. In addition, they have under construction about a dozen gasoline engines, four disk sanders, several grinding machines, several small speed drills and other pieces of work will be undertaken as soon as castings can be made. Some work is done in all these shops which may be called exercises for the purpose of teaching a given principle or skill, but exercise work is cut to a minimum, and so far as possible, the work of all shops is intended for use in the school system or to be sold. This plan of turning out a useful product from the shops, not only has a financial value, but adds a practical element to the shop instruction. Not only does the boy in the shop produce a useful thing, but a portion of his time is devoted to learning the theory and book knowledge which is related to the trade and shop work which he is following. "Knowing" is emphasized in the shops as well as "Doing." A large number of reference books and trade magazines are to be found in the shops which are used freely by the hoys.

To make the instruction more efficient, the department is working out Job, Operation and Information sheets for each of the courses. This organization of lesson material is supervised by Prof. O. H. Day of Purdue University who comes to Mishawaka once a week and holds a class of instructors who are editing this material for their shops.

A Trade and Engineering Club has been organized in connection with the Vocational department. This club has about one hundred members who are principally from the Trade and Engineering courses. The purpose of the club is to visit industrial plants, have technical men speak before the club, and carry out any special activities of the department.

The vocational department will be greatly enlarged and better with larger shops, more equipment and additional courses, when the new High School building is completed. The department will be located in Section A of the new building, which will be a one story factory type building located on the north-west wing. The department will have about 14,000 square feet of floor space in which there will be found the following shops: an Automotive Shop with a tool room and electrical department, besides a chassis, a motor and general repair section; a Machine Shop which will be well equipped with practically all of the common machine tools; a Wood Working and Pattern Shop of considerable size with a small unit of Foundry work; an Electrical Shop with a tool room, office, small rooms for interior wiring, and electric experiment section. The Drafting Department will consist of two rooms, one of which will be devoted to beginning drafting and the other to trade drawing, also an office and a blue print room. The Printing department will have an editorial room, and a press room. A small room 16x24 is to be devoted to a library and exhibit room. Office for supervisor, locker space, and laboratories will also be provided. The shops, equipment and facilities for carrying on the work of the Vocational department in the new High School building, will be found to be of the finest in this section of the state.

Fame, Honor, Game

COACH KAISER

Coach Kaiser came to Mishawaka with a reputation and still maintains it. Through his efforts, we had a successful football season, and our basketball team was the best in five years. Coach Kaiser merits all the praise for the development of these teams, for it was under his tutelage that they were able to accomplish these feats. He believed in clean sportsmanship and fight. "Fight" was the coach's middle name.

CAPTAIN GERARD

Captain Gerard, a three letter man, was the most popular athlete in school. Kenny sure was the mainstay of our team this year and proved himself an ideal captain. Kenny was always a dependable man, and came across with a gain when most needed. Many times it seemed impossible to do the things he did. He was an accurate passer, and many touchdowns resulted from his unfailing ability to locate an end far down the field. He was an athlete of naive ability. There never was a player who hit the line harder or played the game fairer than Gerard.

MISHAWAKA, 6; EAST CHICAGO, 0

Mishawaka began the football season of 1923 in good form by defeating East Chicago, 6-0. The game was a series of thrills from beginning to end. During the second quarter, Fisher carried the ball over for the only touchdown of the game. The teams were evenly matched, but just once did East Chicago threaten to score by completing passes. Near the end of the fourth quarter, Marker, in returning a punt, made a sixty yard run, which again placed Mishawaka within scoring distance. The lack of time, however, made it impossible to make a second touchdown.

MISHAWAKA, 7; ELKHART, 0

Mishawaka, in a bitter fight, successfully encountered the strong Elkhart team on Dodge field. The home team stubbornly resisted the onslaughts of Elkhart's speedy backfield. They failed to score in their one attempt during the entire game.

In the first half, the ball swayed back and forth in midfield, neither team approaching the other's goal. Elkhart opened up the second half with a series of passes, which Fuson, almost single-handed, broke up. Both teams were fighting to win the second half, and real football was the result. Baker played a remarkable defensive game at end. In the last quarter, Elkhart could not stop Mishawaka's line plunges and end runs; these brought the ball within scoring distance. Captain Gerard carried the ball over for the touchdown, and scored the extra point by kicking. Enthusiasm on the sidelines, as well as on the field, was at its height, when the game ended with the ball in Mishawaka's possession.

MISHAWAKA, 13; HOWE MILITARY ACADEMY, 0

Mishawaka High School journeyed to Howe, Indiana, and won its third Mishawaka High School journeyed to Howe, Indiana, and won its third consecutive victory. Mishawaka immediately began the scoring, right from the kick-off. After a series of end runs and off-tackle plays, Mishawaka placed the ball on the five yard line. From there, Gerard carried it over for the first marker. He kicked goal. On receiving the ball again, the opponents began their attack, but lost the ball. Howe punted, but was blocked, by Baker who fell upon the ball on the five yard line. Fuson took it over on the next play. Attempt for goal failed.

In the second quarter, a light rain began to fall, and many substitutions were made. This, undoubtedly, accounted for the small score. Neither team seemed to get close to scoring distance, after the first quarter, although Walter Brady played a flashy game. Howe sure must be complimented upon its good sportsmanship.

MISHAWAKA, 14; GOSHEN, 16

The game started with Goshen kicking off to Mishawaka. After a series of plays, a long pass from Captain Gerard to Hiler netted the first touchdown. Captain Gerard kicked goal. Mishawaka, after receiving the ball, again fumbled; Goshen recovered, ran for a touchdown, and kicked goal. In the second quarter, after recovering a fumble, the opponents marched down the field, and made a second touchdown. They completed a pass for the extra point. The last counter for Goshen came when they blocked a punt and Hiler fell on it, back of our goal. This gave them a safety for two more points.

The second half was hard fought by our boys. Through a series of end runs, in which Captain Gerard starred, the ball was finally carried over for M. H. S. last counter. He again kicked goal. The game soon ended after this final point was made, with our boys fighting to the last minute.

MISHAWAKA, 0; WARSAW, 18

The Maroon and White journeyed to Warsaw, and suffered its second defeat of the season. The loss of Captain Gerard, and Fuson, who was injured during the game, greatly crippled our team.

Although scored upon in the first two quarters, Mishawaka fought gamely. Mishawaka could not withstand the aerial attack which netted the home team eighteen points. Warsaw scored its last touchdown by the aerial route in the final quarter.

MISHAWAKA, 13; NILES, 6

In spite of being defeated by Warsaw, the team of M. H. S. won over the strong Niles team. The game started with a kick-off to the Mishawaka warriors, who carried it to the twenty yard line and drop-kicked; in this they failed. By long end runs, the Maroon and White warriors finally placed the ball on the one yard line, and scored their first touchdown by a forward pass from Marker to Dennis. Dennis kicked goal

No further scoring took place until a fumble was recovered by a Niles player, who ran twenty-five yards for a touchdown. They failed to make the extra point after touchdown. Mishawaka scored again in the third quarter, after taking the ball to the ten yard line, by long end runs and passes. A pass from Marker to Baker scored another touchdown. Attempt at goal failed. No further scoring took place throughout the game.

MISHAWAKA, 7; LOGANSPORT, 13

Mishawaka went to Logansport, only to receive the most heart-breaking defeat of the season. Mishawaka made four touchdowns, but only one counted. Time and again Marker, Gerard and Fisher made sweeping end runs, only to be called back for penalties. Marker raced sixty yards for a touchdown, but it didn't count. Mishawaka lost, but it cannot be said that Logansport won.

MISHAWAKA, 6; SOUTH BEND, 19

The day of November 24 finally arrived after a week of seething unrest and enthusiasm. The grand stands of Cartier field were well filled, and the deafening cheers from them filled the air. It was no wonder that everyone was tense from the anxiety to see the game, for this was the first time in three years that the rival teams of South Bend and Mishawaka met on the gridiron.

The game started at three o'clock. Mishawaka received the kick-off. Held for downs, our team was forced to punt. South Bend received the ball, and immediately started a march toward its goal. The game had fairly started when South Bend scored its first marker of the game. Mishawaka stiffened its defense, and held South Bend on even terms till late in the second quarter. Then Sabo again carried the pigskin over the last "white line." Soon afterwards, the half ended 13-0 in favor of South Bend.

Mishawaka came back in the third quarter, encouraged. Our team opened its aerial attack which completely dazed its opponents, and scored its only points of the game. Gerard missed goal. Both teams again played on even terms, seesawing back and forth, until late in the final quarter. Our opponents then succeeded in reaching the twenty yard line, and after a few consecutive plays, Sabo carried the ball over for the final counter of the game. Mishawaka received the kick-off and continued the play. A little later, the final whistle blew with our noble warriors fighting to the last minute.

Devoe Neff, Tackle

Through his good work, Neff earned a regular position as tackle this season. He played in as many quarters as any member of the team. Neff's playing during the whole season is well worth commendation. He will be back next year to win more laurels for M. H. S.

Louis Dennis, Fullback

Louie was the all around man of the team. He played in every position, except quarterback, during the season. Louie certainly proved his ability as a player in the South Bend game. His ability to receive passes and line plunging, brought the only touchdown M. H. S. obtained that day. He surely was a valuable man.

Albert Philion, Guard

Mose was one of the best fighters the team had. He was always right there, ready to do whatever Coach Kaiser ordered. Mose possessed a fighting spirit worth while. Great things are expected from him next year.

MISKODEED ===

Francis Kraus, Tackle

Hank was the other tackle who could be depended upon. Hank alternated from guard to tackle; he played both positions to a queen's taste. He deserved great credit for his stellar playing in the South Bend game. Often times, that day, it seemed as though Hank broke through the line and stopped the play before it even started. The team will miss Hank next year.

THOMAS FUSON, Fullback

Tommy was, by far, the best plunger Mishawaka had. A few yards never kept Tommy from making the final goal. On account of injuries, Tommy was often cheated out of playing, but in the games he did play, his work was admirably done. It will he hard to find a man to fill his shoes next year.

WALTER BRADY, Guard

This was Brady's second year on the team, and it was his best. He played a brand of football far superior to that played by most high school linemen. Brady was the big star at Howe. He smashed up line plays, and stopped end runs, before the "backs" were started. The next year's team may well be proud of its fighter, Brady.

MILTON JOHNSON, Guard

During the early part of the season, Milt "subbed" as a backfield man. His worth was soon noticed, however, and he found his place on the line as guard. Milt was not only a hard hitting man, but also a ready onc. He was always there with the necessary pep, and always encouraged his teammates. A real player like Milt is always in demand.

ORRIN HILER, End

Hiler played end with Baker for the last two seasons. Whenever M. H. S. opened its aerial attack, Hiler was always on the job. He was a sure receiver and revealed his ability as such in the Goshen game. After but a few minutes of play in that game, he tore through the opposing team, and received Kenny's pass over the line. It will be hard to find a man to take Hiler's place.

"You played a clean game, Orrin."

NEALAND FREEMAN, Guard

Curly always played every minute of the game, and never let a man pass him. Although he was forced to quit football; his fighting ability won him a letter. Curly only played in a few games, but they were enough to show his worth as a member of the 1923 team.

Roscoe Marker, Halfback

Roscoe, better known as "Pete", was the best end skirter on the squad. In the first few games, Pete played as quarter, but after the injury of Fisher's knee, he found his real place as halfback. He displayed his ability as a future collegiate star in every game, especially in the Niles game, where he reeled off a sixty yard run. East Chicago will never forgive him. Watch Pete's dust at college.

Wilbur Frederick, Quarterback

Bill, a newcomer this year, sure was the happy surprise of the season. His playing as quarter-back was always up to par. Bill was a man who could hit hard, and his consistent playing made several timely gains for M. H. S. His ability as a punter was revealed in the South Bend game, where time and again he kicked the team out of danger. Bill was a small, but a mighty man.

GLENN BUNN, Center

Bunny, a new member of the team, played a stellar game as guardian of the ball. Although this was his first year, Bunny received the most difficult position. This position as center calls for a person who can defend himself—and Bunny always did. He came through and did his part to a queen's taste. Bunny will be greatly missed from the lineup next year.

WARD BAKER, End

"Cannon-ball" Baker was faster than his name implies in the Elkhart game. If ever Elkhart returned a punt, it was not in the game with Mishawaka, for it was Baker who was under the pill. This was Bake's second year as a varsity man, and his last for M. H. S. Next year some college freshman team will reap the benefit of Mishawaka's loss.

IRVIN SCHEER, Guard

Scheer was probably the biggest man on the team this season. Too bad that the doctor kept Irvin from playing the first part of the season, but he made up for it in the Goshen game. His work was greatly commended by the spectators.

"Just keep it up next year, Irv."

LEONARD FISHER, Halfback

Fisher scored the first touchdown of the season, by smashing his way twelve yards through East Chicago's stone wall. The latter part of the season, he was slowed up by an injured knee. In spite of this, however, he came through with the goods at Logansport. Fisher liked to play against big men, for his motto always was, "The bigger they are, the harder they fall."

This is Fisher's last year of varsity competition.

ARTHUR EGENDORFER, End

Art first made his real showing at Warsaw, when he "subbed" as end man. From that time on, Art's name was in the regular lineup. Art revealed his scrappy spirit in the South Bend game, when he played tackle. We look for great things from Art, next year.

The Reserves

Much of the season's success is due to the untiring work of the reserves. Night after night they came out to help round the varsity team into shape. Many of the "scrubs" were Sophomores and Freshmen and will be the real team in the next few years.

With five "M" men back and all twelve reserves, the 1924 season is bound to be a huge success. With a little more training, the reserves will develop into football players that will uphold the honor of M. H. S. on the new athletic field, and will dedicate it with a championship team.

The following men will be back next year to beat South Bend: Kemper, Dean Brady, Baer, Heiser, Lindsey, Himschoot, Doyle, Ulery, Earnhart, Faust, Rompagel and Don Neff.

THE TOURNAMENT.

For the first time since the founding of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, South Bend failed to win this year's sectional tournament. Although M. 11. S. did not win, it progressed more in the games than South Bend did. Lakeville defeated Mishawaka in the finals, 39-24. M. H. S. put up a hard battle, but Lakeville was too lucky. Dennis was selected as all-sectional man. The rest of the team was deserving of places, but Dennis was the only one to be honored.

Lakeville first upset the dope by winning from Bremen. Then at night, old M. H. S. upset all dope by defeating the Bourbon quintet, 28-24 after two overtime periods.

On Saturday morning, South Bend's long line of tournament victories was ended, for Lakeville completely out-classed it, 25-17.

Again in the semi-finals M. H. S. avenged the early season loss by winning from Plymouth 26-20. This admitted Mishawaka to the finals, to play Lakeville, winner of the Lakeville-Culver game.

The final game was a great affair. Mishawaka was there en masse, South Bend was there, in black. During the first few minutes of the game, spectators thought that surely it was Mishawaka's victory. However, Lakeville slowly but surely caught up with M. H. S. The half ended 13-13. The first half was tame compared with the final frame.

Mishawaka opened its attack in the last half with a pair of field goals, but Lakeville was not to be held back. The Lakeville crew opened up a baffling attack and once it led, it was never headed.

M. H. S. should be proud of that team, it fought, it played basketball and consisted of real sportsmen. All through the tournament, all the teams and all the different boosters were the best of sports. Sportsmanship made the tourney a complete success.

Watch M. H. S. next year!

BASKETBALL SEASON

1923-1924.

FOOTBALL SEASON had scarcely closed, before basketball came into the fimelight. With only two weeks practice, the season officially opened, when Coach Kaiser took eight men to Warsaw and handed them their first defeat since 1920, with a 19-16 score. With time almost up, and the score tied 16-16, Murphy dropped in a free throw, and Grant made a field goal which sewed up the game.

The following week, Plymouth fell into a heated argument to the tune of 19-17, after an overtime period. In the second game with them, M. H. S. was forced to bow to them with the score of 33-14.

The two Elkhart games were both closely contested. Mishawaka won here after an overtime period with the score of 31-30, and Elkhart won there, 39-33.

Ligonier had one of the weakest teams appearing on our schedule. M. H. S. won here 39-13, and later at Ligonier. Marker and Spragne rolled up 31 points themselves, and the final score was 45-23.

On New Year's day, Sonth Bend started the new year right by handing M, H. S. a 25-19 beating. Our team never let up on the "fight," but the Benders were more consistent in hitting the loop. The score was close, until the last few minutes of play, when South Bend scored a few lucky shots in quick succession. In the second game, with Fuson and Dennis out, South Bend outsecred us, but did not out-fight us in a 32-21 battle.

In the first LaPorte game, the M. H. S. squad seemed handicapped by the low ceiling, and lost this game, 17-25. However, when LaPorte came here, it had a real fight on its hands, but won in the last second of play, the winning shot being in the air, when the final whistle blew. The score stood 20-19, in favor of LaPorte,

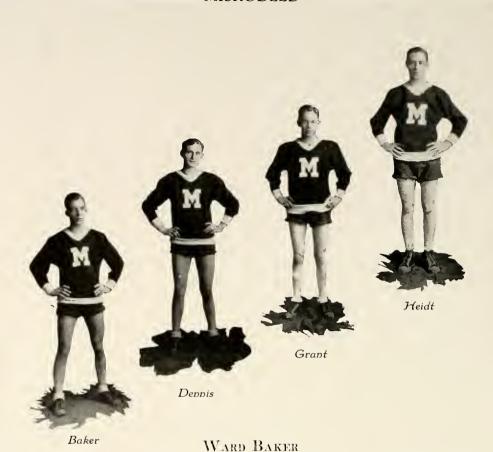

M. H. S. split games with Niles. In the first game, Mishawaka's accurate passing and shooting won a 27-24 game. In the second game at Niles, the M. H. S. team led up until the last minute, but Niles forged one point ahead, and stalled the final seconds for a 23-22 victory.

Lakeville, the victor of the Sectional Tournament, was completely outclassed by Mishawaka on January 2, by a 37-24 score.

Nappanee, that had lost to Ligonier, made the team step lively for five minute overtime period to win a score, 27-24. The game with Nappanee earlier in the season, had been cancelled due to poor transportation facilities.

All in all the season was a complete success; the team won nine and lost eight of the scheduled games. The team scored 512 points to the opponents' 502. The least they scored in any one game was fourteen points, and the most scored was forty-five points. The squad was a group of fighters of whom any school would be proud.

"Bake" was an old standby. Bake played in every game and put in more minutes than any of the five men on the team. This was Bake's first year on the varsity and his last. His "dead eye" in the Elkhart game caused heartfailure to the rooters for Elkhart.

Louis Dennis

Lewie was a fast forward, who always seemed to manage to get clear for an open shot. He is the kind of man who fits well in a scoring combination. Many games were won because of his ability to score.

DONALD GRANT

Don is another product from the Junior Interclass squad of 1923. Don was small, but mighty. A shot of his practically won the Warsaw game. Don will be missed next year.

Delbert Heidt

Debby was ineligible the first part of the season, but at the beginning of the second semester he worked his way to a regular berth. His work in the tournament rated him among the best floor guards of the section. Debby has another year.

Ernhart

ORRIN HILER

Hiler played center, and was the high point man of the squad. His size and experience made him an invaluable man to the team during the long grind of the season.

Roscoe Marker

Pete was another worthy Senior. He was handicapped by his eye sight, but was the fastest man on the squad. Time and again Pete smashed up many opposing plays. This was his third year on the squad.

FORREST SPRAGUE

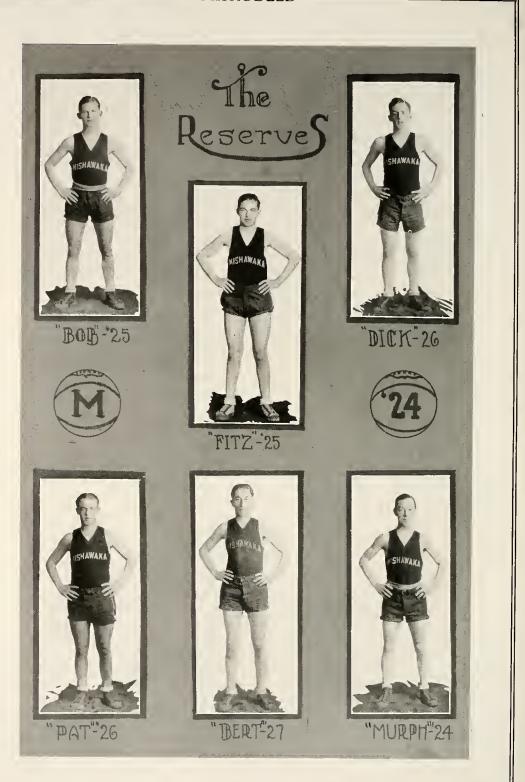

Sprague was second to Hiler in making points. He was one of the best floor workers on the squad. He was fast, and a good fighter. This was his second year. Watch him shine next year!

STANFORD ERNHART

Stanley was the eighth man for the tournament. He was a lanky back guard, and saw service in some of the early season games. Stan is only a Sophomore, and you will hear more of him next year.

Thomas Fuson

Tom was a greatly feared floor-guard. His work in the South Bend game was highly commendable. Tom is another product of inter-class teams. His forte was in recovering the ball, and breaking up opposing passwork.

TRACK

For the first time in about four years, M. H. S. has again taken an active interest in track. At present the team was working out at the Lincoln Park Track. The track was in poor condition and the squad was greatly handicapped. However, next year with the new athletic field and a more experienced squad, better results can be expected.

At the first of the season, 112 men responded to Coach Kaiser's call. An interclass meet was held, and the squad selected. Meets were scheduled with schools nearby, and entries were made in the Northern Indiana Track Meet.

The schedule was:

April 19, Quadrangular meet with South Bend, Goshen, and Warsaw.

April 26, Triangular meet with LaPorte and Plymouth.

May 3, Northern Indiana Meet at Notre Dame.

TENNIS

In 1923, M. H. S. was represented on the clay courts by a strong team composed of F. Martens, F. Kraus, L. Dennis, and K. Ball. All of these men are back with the exception of F. Martens. Together with much new material, a strong team should be developed.

As the Miskodeed goes to press, practice has not officially begun, but meets are scheduled with South Bend, and it is probable that meets will also be scheduled with Goshen, Elkhart and LaPorte.

The teams play at the Battell Courts which are fair, but new courts will be available on the new school grounds. It is hoped that in the future, M. H. S. may have a tennis team that will compare with its football and basketball teams.

Freshmen Interclass Champs

Freshmen Win Interclass

The powerful Freshman Five seemed beyond a doubt to be the best team in interclass. They were defeated but once, and then by the much talked of Senior Five who finished second. Much credit for their success is due to their coach, Mr. Steele. His untiring efforts, and his willingness to coach the newcomers proved to be a real accomplishment.

However, it's not alone the coach who makes the team, it is also the boys. Among the Freshman Five, Captain Himschoot probably proved to be the most consistent player. His height and ability made him a star of the Freshmen. Stein, Deniman, House Eminger, Dentino and Bennet, with captain Himschoot, composed the team. In a few years M. H. S. should have a team to be much feared by its opponents, if all these men remain in school. We hope they do.

The Yell Leaders

EUGENE "RED" HEISER

A greater amount of energy and pep eould hardly be found in any one person than is found in "Red." His abundant vim was in turn transferred, almost undiminished, to the students. "Red," known almost universally by that name, has contributed greatly to the volume and sincerity of the yells produced at our games and pep meetings.

Mishawaka High is indebted to "Red" for several new and thoroughly effective yells, which have been put to the test and found good.

The old adage, "Valuable things often come done in small packages" applies to "Red," for he certainly is "small, but mighty," Undoubtedly, some of the brilliance from Red's hair radiates the "pep" which he demonstrates to all.

MARGARET HARRIS

"Maggie" has been our snappy little pep leader throughout this year, and has eertainly aided in creating enthusiasm and loyalty for the team. At all the games, whether football or basketball, our two little yell leaders were always seen arousing the crowd to help the team do its best.

The amount of enthusiasm which is derived from well directed yells, can scarcely be estimated. We have been especially fortunate this year in having "Maggie" as one of our pep leaders.

Four for "Maggie" Come on, let's go.

Girls' Athletics

Miss Newbafer

THE SUCCESS OF the girls' athletics this year is greatly due to the untiring efforts of Miss Carolyn Newhafer. Miss Newhafer has instructed the gym classes and coached all of the girls' athletics this year. She is a graduate of Sargent Athletic School, Boston, Mass., which holds the highest rank of any school of its kind.

Through the sponsorship of Miss Newhafer, the G. A. L. has revised its constitution, so that it is more satisfactory to all. A definite account has been kept of all the points earned by the girls, and rewards were made to all deserving.

Another system has been established in the G. A. L. sponsored by Miss Newhafer, which requires certain scholarship standards for those receiving rewards in G. A. L. This requirement gives added honor to those receiving awards. The amount of good that has been accomplished through her efforts can only be partly realized in the present, but the procedure of placing the G. A. L. on a firm basis will be greatly appreciated by the girls in the future. The abounding enthusiasm and energy combined with an extraordinary amount of "pep," which Miss Newhafer has exercised in all our sports, are undoubtedly, highly commendable.

EXHIBITION OF GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

The girls of the various gym classes, in cooperation with the Girls' Athletic League, held a Gymnastical Exhibition on May 16. A large number of interested spectators witnessed feats of physical skill.

One of the numbers which deserved special attention was the so-called pyramid building. This feature of girls' gymnastics has never before been displayed in public in any of the girls' exhibits in this high school. Other numbers such as costume dances, exercises, and a presentation of a regular day gym class were also worthy of praise because of the well trained participants.

The proceeds of this entertainment were to aid the fund for purchasing the G. A. L. awards.

Girls' Varsity Basketball Team

LOCAL TEAM SCORES VICTORY OVER Y. W.

IN THE FIRST combat of the local squad with an outside team, a hard fought victory was achieved. In the first quarter, the ball was fiercely contested by both teams and few baskets were made.

The girls of M. H. S. scored a great majority of their points in the first half, by "putting the ball in" on the free throws. The half ended 9 to 10 in our favor.

In the second half, the Y. W.'s realized that to win, they must fight, but our girls were too active and the second half ended with a score of 14 to 16 which made the wearers of the maroon and white victorious.

SOUTH BEND Y. W. WINS

In a Second attempt to make honors for M. H. S., the local team failed, after a hard fight, and a trying contest.

In the first half, the girls were, in a measure, almost overpowered by the strong defense. Nevertheless, it is not the custom of the students of M. H. S. to be defeated without a supreme effort on their part. The second half was played with a greater share of vigor and opposition on our side, but the score ended 11 to 20 in favor of the Y. W.'s.

This year is the first in the history of M. H. S. for some time that the girls have participated in interscholastic games This may well be considered a forward step for the coming years in girls' basketball.

Girls' Interclass Basketball

EXCEPTIONAL INTEREST was shown this year in girls' interclass basketball, which, after many purposeful games, pronounced the Juniors as winners and as champions of the year '23 to '24.

After a number of weeks of practicing, under the new system of playing introduced to the girls, by Miss Newhafer, a schedule of games was arranged. Each class entered into the games with all the energy that it could put forth, which brought about the success of the season.

Six games were played between the rival classes. The Juniors were able to take the honor because of their remarkable accuracy in shooting, as well as having good players in all the other positions.

Schedule and scores of games played:

29—Juniors		Freshmen—8
7—Seniors		Sophomores-9
14-Juniors		Sophomores-3
26-Juniors		Seniors—9

Lineups were as follows:

HOCKEY SEASON

A GIRLS' HOCKEY TEAM was formed this year for the first time in M. H. S. The team was a great undertaking for all concerned, especially for Miss Carolyn Newhafer, the athletic instructor, who helped to make ready the field and teach the details of the game to all.

An interesting game was held between a team composed of South Bend teachers and the local squad. The game demonstrated, to a great advantage, what the girls are capable of doing, for the score was 3 to 0 in favor of the Mishawaka team.

Following this, a number of interesting interclass games was played by the Seniors and Sophomores, composing one team, and the Juniors and Freshmen the other. The players of the Senior-Sophomore team out-classed the rivals, and won the interclass championship.

THE GIRLS' ATHLETIC LEAGUE.

The Girls' Athletic League, as an organization, decidedly, has taken forward steps this year with Miss Newhafer as its sponsor.

The first meeting was held in the fall, and officers elected as follows:

Anice Holderman	President
Kathryn Stout Vice	-President
Lillian Jordan	Secretary
Beda Van Tilbury Board	of Control

A new office was also created to be held by an underclassman. The duty of this office holder is to keep records of this year's business so that in the following year, the organization will not be at a loss to know what has been done the preceding year. Margaret Harris was chosen to fulfill this duty.

Under the new officers, the constitution of the G. A. L. was revised, and a system of giving awards according to scholarship was established.

Sweaters, "M's" and numerals were given as rewards to those girls having a sufficient number of points. Lillian Jordan received a gold medal, the first one given in the history of M. H. S., for having received over 1000 points.

It is hoped by the Senior members of this organization that the coming years may be as successful as this year has been.

Life as we Like It

SENIOR CHRISTMAS DANCE

The Class of 1924 entertained the Juniors and Seniors at a Christmas dance on Saturday evening, December 15, 1923. The auditorium was very attractively decorated with evergreen branches and holiday colors. A beautifully decorated Christmas tree in the center of the floor was a conspicuous feature, which made the dance one of the prettiest affairs of the season. Between the dances, a pleasing program was presented; Miss Tichy and Miss Bonewitz sang a duet, accompanied by Miss Winn. Miss Helen Prahl interpreted a dance, "The French Doll." A quartette composed of Thomas Fuson, Raymond Kemper, Albert Philion and Wilber Fredericks sang several numbers. The dance was considered one of the most successful events of the year.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY.

On the evening of April 4, 1924, the Juniors and Seniors were entertained at a party in the high school auditorium. Many of the members of both classes enjoyed the dance. Music was furnished by Beldon Leonard and his orchestra. Refreshments were served by the committee, during the latter part of the evening.

SENIOR PARTY.

THE SENIOR CLASS gave the first party of the year, on Saturday evening, September 29, 1923. Dancing was the main feature of the evening. The orchestra, which consisted mostly of upper classmen, provided exceptionally good music. The football team was especially deserving after its hard-fought contest in the afternoon, with Elkhart.

BANQUET FOR BASKETBALL MEN

The High School basketball team was entertained at a banquet given by the M. H. S. Board of Control, on Tuesday evening, April 8,1924, in the Presbyterian Church. The team, coach Kaiser and the officers of the team were guests. Many other boys attended. The program consisted of musical numbers given by Beldon Leonard's Orchestra; a violin solo played by Beldon Leonard, a vocal solo by Wilbur Frederick, a vocal duet by Wilbur Frederick and Ralph Wenman, and an address by coach Keogan of Notre Dame. Everyone enjoyed himself immensely.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

On the evening of December 15, 1923, the annual football banquet, in honor of the Football Team of Mishawaka High School, was given in the banquet room of the Mishawaka Hotel. Speeches were given by different members of the team, including Leonard Fisher, Thomas Fuson, captain Gerard and Milton Johnson. Interesting addresses were given by Mr. Shank, Mr. Cauble and Mr. Emmons.

G. A. L. RECEPTION FOR FOOTBALL SQUAD

On Friday evening, December 7, the members of the Girls' Athletic League entertained the high school students at a football reception and dance. A number of novel stunts, such as a girls' football game was a feature of the evening. The music for dancing was provided by the high school orchestra.

SCRIBBLER INITIATION PARTY

On Friday evening, September 21, 1923, fifteen new members were initiated by the Scribblers of last year. This was the last meeting held by the old members of the club. After the new members had taken the three degrees of initiation, the rest of the evening was spent in dancing. Refreshments were served during the last part of the evening.

SCRIBBLERS' FROLIC

The Auditorium of M. H. S., gaily decorated with pumpkin faces and corn stalks, was the scene of a most successful masquerade party given on Saturday evening, October 27, 1923. A grand march introduced the evening, after which prizes were awarded to Mary Vinson and Ruth Piser for the most clever and most comical costumes.

Perhaps the most enjoyable event of the evening was the "Dance of Joy," cleverly interpreted by Madaline Stein. "The Minuet" given in old fashioned costume, was also a pleasing feature. Fortune-telling and dancing were delightfully in progress, during the remainder of the evening.

SCRIBBLERS' PARTY

ON FRIDAY EVENING, March 14, the Scribblers' Club of Mishawaka High school entertained the students at a party. Dancing was the main feature of the evening, the music was furnished by Chet Murray's orchestra. All those who attended agreed that the dance was a complete success.

HI-Y DANCE

THE HI-Y CLUB of Mishawaka High school entertained the students at a dance on the evening of April 11, 1924, and had as special guests, the members of the Goshen Hi-Y Club. A very unique program was presented:

Solo Dance—Wilbur Frederick.

Square Dance—George Vinson, Bernice Kuhn, Thomas Fuson, Fairye Kreiter, Glenn Swanson, Madaline Gill, Victor Neil, and Dorothy Burger.

Beldon Leonard's Orchestra played the program of dances.

JUNIOR HALLOWEEN PARTY

In spite of uncertain weather, the Junior party, held on Saturday evening, November 23, was a huge success. The auditorium was decorated in keeping with Halloween, and favors were given to all the guests during the evening. Three witches read many bright and happy futures of members of the class and of the faculty. Refreshments were served during the last part of the evening, and the party ended with a large confetti dance.

MISKODEED MATINEE DANCE

The members of the Miskodeed staff sponsored a very successful matinee dance of the year in the high school auditorium on Friday afternoon, February 15, 1924. Only those who wore Miskodeed tags or who had paid in full for their annuals were allowed to attend. A special feature was the opening of a valentine box, and the distributing of valentines. Music was furnished for dancing by the Harmony Four.

JUNIOR PROMENADE

The class of 1925 entertained the senior class at the annual Junior-Senior Promenade, on the evening of June 7, 1924. The event took place in the high school building, and took the form of a banquet and dance.

WRANGLERS' RIDDLE

The Wranglers entertained the school at one of the most successful parties of the year on Saturday evening, January 19, 1924. Impromptu dancing was enjoyed by all until 8:30 o'clock when the program of dances began. It was a most novel leap year frolic, every second dance being the ladies' choice. During an interval a play, "Gas," was presented by several members. The auditorium was prettily decorated with varied colored streamers interwoven with colorful surpentine crepe. The auditorium presented a carnival appearance when the dancers entangled themselves in the web-like arrangement. When the last strains of "Home Sweet Home" were heard, all agreed that the second annual "Wranglers' Riddle" was a complete success.

SENIOR SILLY SIRCUS

A MARVELOUS CIRCUS came to town Friday and Saturday nights, November 16 and 17, with clowns, circus ladies, bareback-riders, rare wild animals, wonderful and mystifying side shows, in fact everything that constitutes a real circus.

Thomas Fuson won great fame as a very able ring master, while Augustus Stearns cleverly managed the group of side shows. In one of these side shows, there were famous prizefighters, in another, all the wonderful works of art. One could visit the beauty parlor and become beautiful, or stop at the fortune tellers and gaze into his future. "A Night in Alabama" offered a pleasing program and "The House of David" caused much excitement and laughter.

The entire school was turned into a place of noise and turmoil. A "jazzy" band provided the greater share of the noise. Balloons, canes, confetti, hot dogs, and pink lemonade sold from attractive booths, all added to the atmosphere of circus gaiety. The circus was an extraordinary success for the class of '24.

NOTRE DAME GLEE CLUB

The Notre Dame Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. J. Lewis Browne of Chicago, presented an entertaining concert in the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening, December 12, 1923. The performance was given under the auspices of the Juniors. Dr. Browne, who is well known as a director, organist, and singer, has developed an exceptionally fine Glee Club. A program of classical music, with a number of popular and humorous selections was given. The assisting artists were Miss Josephine Decker, contralto; Mrs. Marjorie Bertling Galloway, pianist, and Miss Mause Weber, accompanist.

Music Department

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT has been under the direction of Miss Winn, who came to Mishawaka, from Paris, Ill., in September, 1922. She has created a great deal of enthusiasm among the students, and has interested a large group in the orchestra work and choruses. Her efforts have been greatly appreciated, for the result of her work has been very successful.

The girls' chorus was unusually large this year, having from fifty to sixty members. They have been working especially on some of the older songs and also the new compositions. The boys have shown interest in their work, too, although the chorus was smaller than the girls' chorus.

The members of the Glee clubs were chosen by Miss Winn from the two choruses. Both of these have been very active, and have been most helpful to the school. They have furnished programs outside of school for the "Woman's Club," the "Fellowship Club," the "Lion's Club" and for various entertainments. The Glee clubs have been popular on account of the splendid talent of the members, and the good music which they can produce.

The Orchestra this year has certainly been a valuable asset to the school, full of "life," and "pep." It was composed of forty pieces, and the members were from all the classes. The musicians in the orchestra have developed rapidly during the past year, due to the excellent training they have received. They have also been in numerous programs and have obtained favorable comment. With the help of the Glee clubs, the orchestra presented one of the Madrigal Concerts. This proved very successful and won much praise from the audience.

It is hoped that Miss Winn will be here again next year to continue her splendid work in the music department.

The affirmative team lost to South Bend, 3-0 and to East Chicago, 2-1. The negative team defeated South Bend, 3-0 and lost to East Chicago, 3-0.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL

The Board of Control was organized on February 11, 1920, on which day it was presented by the principal to the students and voted upon by them. The purpose was to promote the cooperation between teachers and students, and to create a loyal school spirit among all the members of M. H. S. by sharing a common financial fund.

The membership of this body consists of five teachers, a student from each of the four classes, one from all organizations and clubs of the school, and the students' manager. Mr. Cauble is the faculty manager, and has charge of all schedules for games, debates, etc. The election of members to the board are held at the beginning of the fall term in the various groups to be represented. A student may serve for one year unless dropped on account of absence from the regular meetings.

All the school money, which is in the hands of the comptroller, is allowed to be used only with the consent of the board. With the consent of the board, the money may be used for entertainments, rewards for athletics, for debating, for contests etc. The books of the comptroller are audited twice each year, and this is publicly made known.

THE ALLTOLD STAFF.

It has been the purpose of the Alltold Staff to publish a newsy four-page paper on each Friday. There have been more issues this year, than in any other year of the Alltold's six years of existence. Cooperation between staff and print-shop has made an efficient organization.

The publication is a member of the Interscholastic Press Association. Two members of the staff and Miss Heimbach, the advisor, attended the Indiana High School Press convention at Franklin in September. During the first semester, a dinner was served for the enjoyment of both printing and editorial staffs. Mr. Emmons and Mr. Shank gave inspirational talks encouraging both staffs to use their best efforts in producing a worthy paper.

Before news becomes an Alltold, reporters hand in copies which are typewritten. Then the printing department of the High School, under the supervision of Mr. Weesner, sets the type for it. After the proofs have been read, the final printing of the paper is done. Publishing the Mishawaka High Alltold keeps thirty-five people busy every week.

THE ENGLISH CLUB

THE ENGLISH CLUB is an honorary organization composed of Junior and Senior students who possess an average of "B" or above, in this study.

It was formed for the purpose of further study and appreciation of English literature and drama, as well as for social activites. The English club has been a factor in bringing forth dramatic and literary talent among its members, and has proved most successful, in its various undertakings, during the past year.

THE LATIN CLUB

THE LATIN DEPARTMENT has, for the past two years, been divided into several clubs—one in each Latin class. This organization of clubs has proved to be more successful than the formation of one general club. However, the Cicero class has control over any matter which may arise in the department. Each club elects officers and holds regular meetings during the class period. This year the governing power has been in the Cicero club and the officers elected were:

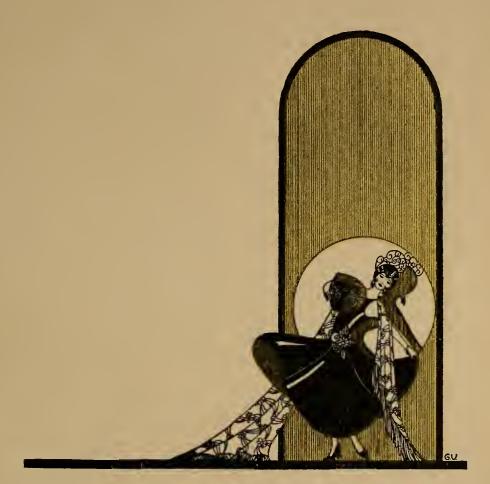

Consuls: Ruth Bowen, Mary Burnett.

Scriptor: Louise Kelly. Treasurer: Gertrude Gygi.

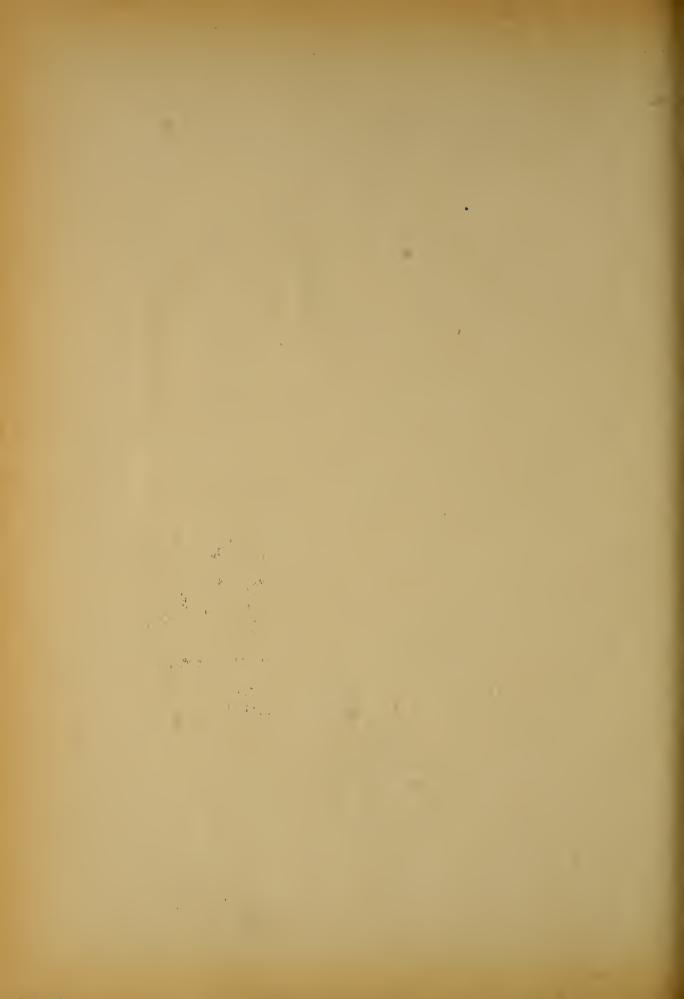

The Latin classes have been especially interested in the paper "Mercurius," and have tried to make it helpful and useful to all Latin departments. There have been four issues of the Mercurius this year, and many subscriptions besides those of the school students were received for these numbers. The paper has had favorable criticisms and received honorable mention from other schools.

The clubs have also presented valuable programs at the meetings, on subjects which were a help in the work that was studied. A farewell party was given by the Cicero Club last fall for Miss Eddingfield who was called to teach in the Cleveland High School. The other club parties were held at Christmas time in the class periods.

Much credit is due to Miss Wyland, now supervisor of the department, for helping to make the Latin work a success; the efforts of Miss Robinson and Miss Eddingfield have also been greatly appreciated.

CONTEST OF SHORTHAND, TYPEWRITING AND PENMANSHIP

THE FIRST ANNUAL Mishawaka district contest of Shorthand, Typewriting and Penmanship was held in M. H. S. under the direction of Miss Perle Marie Parvis, April 26. The schools represented were: Mishawaka, Elkhart, Goshen, Bremen, Bristol, and Ligonier.

The school which made the greatest number of points was awarded a pennant. Mishawaka High won honors in the following phases of the contest: Amateur Typewriting team (first place), Individual Typewriting (second place), Novice Typewriting team (second place), Novice Individual Typewriting (second place), Beginning Shorthand team (first place), Individual Beginning Shorthand (first and second places), Advanced Shorthand team (second place) Individual Advanced Shorthand (first place), Penmanship team (first place).

Mishawaka gained a total of forty-two points of the possible ninety-three, which was the highest number made, and consequently received the honor pennant.

DISCUSSION CONTEST

The Discussion Contest this year was on the subject, "A Practicable Plan by which the United States may Cooperate with other Nations to Achieve and Preserve the Peace of the World." The school contest was held March 21, with Milton Johnson, Orrin Hiler, and Lloyd Linderman competing. Milton Johnson won, and represented M. H. S. in the county contest at South Bend, March 28. There he was chosen to represent the county in the district contest at Goshen, April 10. At Goshen he was defeated. The district contest was won by Niles Anderson from LaPorte. Second place was given to William Schmidt of North Judson; third place was awarded to Ross Art of Elkhart.

THE ORATORICAL CONTEST

THE ORATORICAL CONTEST is one in which everyone in the high school may take part. Last year the contest was given under the auspices of the Northern Indiana Oratorical Association at South Bend. Alberta Ditsch, a Senior of the class of '23, won the reading contest, and was awarded a gold medal.

This year the Oratorical Contest was only a dual contest between LaPorte and Mishawaka, held at LaPorte. Great interest was taken in the contest, for there were many entries. Merrit Farrar and Mary Burnett won first places in oratory and reading, respectively, in the school contest. Merrit Farrar also won first place in the final contest held May 10, 1924, at LaPorte.

Time: An afternoon in June.

PLACE: Lawn in front of Stannard Home.

As the curtain rises, Majorie is seated in a hammock with Freddie sitting at her feet on the lawn, reading poetry to her.

Freddie (reading from paper) Your eyes, mystic pools of beauteous light. Golden brown in color, Deep, yet amber clear Unshadowed, by a frown Fathomless Wherein my senses drown, Your eyes.

Marj.: (yawning) Your poetry is simply divine, Freddie. It's so soul-ful. I wonder where the rest of the bunch is. I'd like to do something afternoon, if it weren't beastly hot.

Freddie: Oh, Marjorie, I don't want any others to come. I want to be alone with you. They don't understand me as you do. They are so noisy and so-so-well, so crude, don't you think?

Marj.; (rising, half amused, half angry) Why, Freddie, don't be silly How can you say such things? Of course, they're not noisy and crude.

If they were, you know very well they wouldn't be my friends.

Freddie: (apologetically) Well, you know I didn't mean exactly that, but they don't seem to appreciate the finer things of life, the grandeur of nature, the vastness of the universe, the romance of life, the beauty, the—

Marj.: (interrupting) Oh, there they are! Peg and Jack and Sylvia!

Enter Peg, Jack and Sylvia. Exit Mr. S.

Marj.: Oh, I'm so glad you've come! Freddie and I were just wishing you were here, weren't we, Freddie? Freddie: (blankly) Er—er, yes.

Marj.: Freddie has the lovliest verses. Won't you read one to the others, Freddie?

Peg.: Yes, do, Freddie. I adore poetry.

All: Come on, Freddie. Read one.
(They exchange amused glances and winks at each other, which he doesn't notice)

Freddie: (doubtful whether to be of-fended or pleased) Why, yes, Marjorie, if you really want me to. I'll read the one I call "Spring."

(reads)

Tis Spring! Tis Spring! Soft breezes gently blow. My heart doth madly sing Ah! With the birds I'd go And, 'mongst the clouds so blue My worldly cares forget,
And, when the magic power of that moment flew, Return to earth, with sorrow and regret.

Jack: (aside to Peggy) We'd go with the birds all right—with the cuc-

Peggy: (laughing) He's pretty hopeless, isn't he?

Slyvia: (overhearing) You two make me tired. It simply isn't in you to appreciate true art in any form. (to Freddie) It's marvelous, Freddie, simply marvelous. I don't see how you do it. (coquetishly) You ought to make a wonderful lover. Do Freddie: (visibly pleased) Do think so? I'm glad you like it. Marj.: Let's play a game of tennis. Peggy: O, horrors! Let's build a nice cozy fire in the fireplace and roast chestnuts or something, why not.

Jack: Oh come on Peg. Be a sport. We might as well play tennis as sit here and pass pleasant remarks on what an extremely warm day it is.

Freddie: (absent-mindedly) Uh-huh. (to himself)

Her hair is like a golden sunbeam

Her lips—a Cupid's bow Her eyes..... her eyes are Enter Gerald in old dirty clothesgreeted by a chorus of shouts.

Marj.: For Heaven's sake, Jerry, what under the sun have you been Jack: Have you accepted a position as village street cleaner, or merely been studying the life and habits of the differential?

Jerry: I've been fixing up the old car again and didn't stop to change my clothes. Jack: Pardon me, but did you say car?

Jerry: Well, laugh, but I want you to know I refused two hundred dollars for that old bus from an anti-quarian. It has more than two hundred dollars worth of things the matter with it.

Peggy: Forsooth, he spaketh words of wisdom that time. Aren't you going to take us out for a ride now that you've brought it safely through the crisis, Jerry?

Jerry: Sure thing--come on.

Exit all—Freddie last off stage mumbling.

Her eyes like stars at night do gleam

Her voice is musical and low.

Exit

Enter Mrs. Stannard. Seats herself in chair.

Mrs. S.: I wonder why Marjorie treats that Freddie Caldwell so badly. He seems awfully nice to me—so quiet and refined. I'm sure I don't know what she's thinking of. Sylvia Randall likes him well enough though. Poor girl, she hasn't a chance with Marjorie around—if I do say so myself.

Enter Mr. Stannard.

Mrs. S.: Why, hello, John-home from work already?

Mr. S.: Yes, we laid off early—nothing much to do. Business is slack just now. By the way, here's a letter for you. It's from your brother Jerry, I think.

Mrs. S.: (taking letter opens it and reads) Oh, dear—he says he can't come to visit us after all-not now anyway. (pause) It's a long letter —I'll—finish it later. I must start supper now. Do you want to read it?

Mr. S.: (taking letter, sits down)
Where is Marjorie?
Mrs. S.: Oh, they all went out riding in Gerald's car.

Exit Mrs. S.

Mr. S.: (settling self in chair and then suddenly rising) That reminds me, I promised to call up Henry at six o'clock and let him know about that fishing trip we planned. Guess I'd better do it now. (Stuffs letter in pocket—one sheet falling to ground unnoticed.)

Exit Mrs. S.

Enter Marj., Jack, Jerry, Sylvia, and Peggy, laughing and talking.

Peggy: You didn't really think that concoction of tin and temperament would go, did you, Jerry?

Jack: Sure, why wouldn't it go—it was equipped by the "Unknown Parts Company?" Say, Jerry, I bet if you'd take the engine out, the thing would go. I believe that's what's holding her back.

Veri: Are you all company in the Marj.: Are you all coming in the house—I'm dying for a drink of water.

Peg: So am I.

Sylvia: I can't stay long. Jack and I are due home for supper.

Exit all—noisily.

(Enter Freddie-looking for something. Walks about searching ground.)

Freddie: I wonder where I put that I remember having it when verse. I read it to Marjorie, but now it's gone. I must find it. Ah—here gone. I must find it. Ah—here it is. (Picks up part of letter and reads) No, it isn't either, but what is this (reads) "And so, although it breaks my heart to do it, I have decided to kill him. I'm going to do it tonight and get it over with

Jerry.' Ah, I knew it! I have felt it coming for a long time. Jerry is jealous of me. He loves Marjorie too, and although I can't blame him, I don't intend to give her up so easily. He will not find me unprepared tonight and we shall fight to the bitter end. Let the best man win. I am not afraid. (His hand trembles visibly as he puts paper in his pocket.)

Exits slowly. Reenter Marj., Jack, Jerry, Sylvia and Peggy.

Marj.: All right then, I'll see you all later. Don't forget your uke, Peggy, and Jerry, bring some Jazzy records over; will you?

Jerry: Sure thing Marj. See later. So long.

(Exit all but Marj. who takes note from pocket of dress.)

Marj.: I wonder why Jerry didn't say what he wanted to instead of writing this note. (reads) Dear Marjorie:—May I see you alone after the others go to-night? I have something important to say.

I can imagine what he wants to say. Oh Jerry, I'm so glad, so glad!

Exit. Curtain lowered to denote lapse of two hours. Curtain rises on darkened. stage. Enter -Freddiestealthily. Speaks in low voice. Ah, now I'm ready—l'll fight gladly for her love. If I win—ah, joy forever, and if I lose, I'll gladly die for her sweet sake. (crouches down) He ought to be coming soon. (Recites)

Oh Death, who hovers threatening fear thee not. I have no fear. For should my soul from my body be free.

Unprotesting I'll follow thee. Enter Jerry, walking briskly. Freddie springs up suddenly in front of him blocks his path.

Jerry: (surprised—jumping back) Why, hello, Freddie—you certainly startled me that time. Why all the dramatics?

Freddie: Do you dare to jest at such a time, Gerald Sotherson? I am ready—let us start.

Jerry: Start what?

Freddie: I did not come here to bandy words with you. If you are ready, let the contest begin. Jerry: For Heaven's sake, Freddie, stop acting like an imbecile and talk sense. What have you there?

Freddie: (apologetically) Well, I couldn't get a sword so I brought this butcher knife. I thought it would do.

Jerry: Do for what? Freddie: Why, to fight with, of course.

Jerry: Suffering Catfish! Who are you going to kill, and why?

Freddie: Why, you, of course—at least I'm going to try.

Jerry: (feverishly passing hand over forehead); (aside) The boy's insane. I've got to do something quick before he kills me. (To Freddie) All right, I'm ready, but let's use our fists for weapons. I'm not armed.

Freddie: (aside) That's funny. (To Jerry) We—ll, all right. (lays down the knife carefully and starts to roll up his sleeves)
Jerry: (aside) Here's my chance.

Jerry: (aside) Here's my chance. (Grabs Freddie's arms and throws him to ground, while Freddie loudly protests)

Enter Mr. and Mrs. Stannard, Sylvia, Jack, Peggy, and Marjory, excitedly.

Mr. Stannard: What does this mean? Jerry: (in low tones) Be careful Mr. Stannard, I think he's batty.

Mr. S.: What! Jerry: Er-er-out of his mind. You know, insane. Freddie: (getti reddie: (getting up—indignantly) I'm not insane. If anyone is, it's Jerry Jerry: You see it's this way, Stannard. I was crossing the lawn when Freddie jumped up in front of me with that knife in his hand, and said if I were ready he'd proceed to kill me. That's all I guess -I managed to stop him before he finished his harmless little game. Freddie: (sputtering) Well, I gness this is proof enough whether I'm insane or not. Just ask Mr. Ger-ald Sothrow, if he doesn't recognize this note?

Mr. Stannard: (puzzled takes note and reads. Suddenly bursts out laughing) This is good. Why, Fred-die, my boy, your little friend Jerry didn't write this at all. It's merely part of a letter Marjorie's mother got from her brother Jerry today. And I rather think it's his feeble old dog he's had for twenty years that's going to get killed tonight instead of you.

Jack: Poor Freddie. I bet he had his heart all set on going to Heaven.

Sylvia: Oh, I'm so glad it's all right and that you weren't hurt, Freddie. (All crowd about Freddie talking excitedly. Marjorie and Jerry stand apart from group and converse in low tones)

Jerry: Well-Freddie hastened matters a little, didn't he?

Marj.: Yes, Jerry.

Jerry: You know what I wanted to say, don't you Marjorie? Marj.: Yes, Jerry.

Jerry: Do you love me Marjorie? Marj: Yes, Jerry.

THE BLUE SLIP SOLILOQUY

I MAY BE ONLY a little blue slip, but I guess the Freshmen are afraid of me. Oh, dear, I do lead such a queer life. I am stuck on a pad, and there I stay, till some teacher gets tired waltzing me around. Then she heedlessly tears me off, scribbles on me and hands me to a Freshie. With a trembling hand, the Freshie takes me, then he looks and looks and stares at me, till I think I shall perish in embarrassment. He crumbles me all up, and stuffs me into his pocket, unmindful of how I hate to be crushed to death. Then every Freshman he comes to, he pulls me out, and I am out on exhibition.

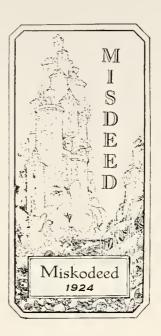

I am getting so frightfully dirty that I shall be ashamed to be presented to Mr. Cauble. I should think my owner could treat me decently at least. I did not come into his hands on my own accord. At last the day is at an end, I am taken to Mr. Cauble's office, and he looks at me and remarks that I am in pretty bad shape, but I stand for a great deal. Finally, Mr. Cauble lays me on his desk and walks away.

Oh, dear how glad I am to get out of some Harry's dirty old pocket. I thought I had a hard time, when the teacher carried me around, but that was heaven in comparison to being in possession of a Freshie. Gracious, I am being looked at again. I guess the writing on my face must be rather dim, for Margaret is actually boring a hole in me. What will become of me? But I am prepared for the worst and hope for the best; nothing could possibly be any worse than being dragged around in Harry's trouser pocket in company with a box of safety matches and a pack of Clown eigarettes.

FOREWORD

In reviewing this epilogne, it might be well if the reader keeps in mind the many happenings in M. H. S. that are all together missed by our daily and weekly and monthly and yearly papers, etc. These notable events will be found written in a very literary style on the following pages.

The most noted, yet unnoticed, event, was:

M. H. S. Man Proves Himself Real Grocery Inserter

Ladies and Gentlemen: I beg of you, allow me to introduce to you his honor Kenneth Gerard, the wonder-man, known through-out Europe, Americas, Asia, Africa, and Australia, for a super-human, man-killing feat, which has set the world on fire and has made South Bend refrain from taking in the sidewalks until 10:30, when he visits there. His Honor has allowed to be inserted into his Carcass at one time, by the unusual method of filling, called eating, the following articles: 1 and 1-3 lbs. of beef; 6 lbs. of apples; 5 lbs. of bananas; 4 1-4 lbs. of potatoes; 1 lb. of bread; 4 lbs. of milk; 4 3-4 lbs. of fish (edible portion); and 2 lbs. of eggs. The most unusual part of it is that he has done the aforementioned act in less than 2 hours. This act in itself may not seem significant until you realize that before committing the crime he ate a good dinner.

In an interview he explains it all by saying, "Iron." This seems unbelievable. He is a great athlete and has not as yet begun to petrify. He explains himself by saying that anyone who likes to eat, can do his little act by taking his time and eating a little at a time. Now this seems simple, but a pound loaf of bread is not easy to down; how about eating 6 lbs. of potatoes at one time? How would you like 6 lbs. of apples in one crack? or 4 3-4 lbs. of fish? You may rather have 5 lbs. of bananas? Some may prefer 2 lbs. of eggs.

The reporter tried to find a logical solution by using algebra, geometry, arithmetic and even, domestic science, but he found his solution in "IRON."

IRON does not mean much, yet, IRON is IRON.

Sun-Maid Raisins (just 1 lb.) contain the ingredients, Mr. Gerard so painfully ate. Now, folks, form right in line, don't rush, and either shoot me or get a package of Sun-Maid Raisins and re-act Mr. Gerard's little story.

Had your iron today?

SENIORS

"In Days of Old When Knights Were Bold" so goes an old song. Years ago a group of our beloved Seniors allowed itself to sit still a moment while it was being photographed. These Seniors now are dignified and probably will resent the little scene, yet they too, will laugh at themselves in this place.

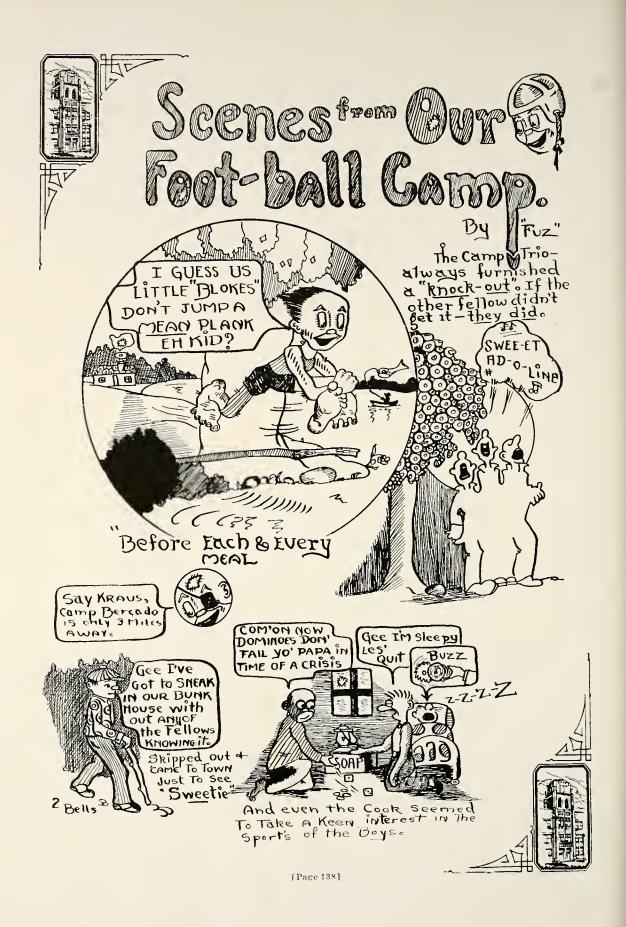

How did you look when you were a kid? Here's how some of our class looked. Do you believe your eyes, Jennie? Tom has changed, hasn't he?

It would be fitting and proper to have a picture of each Senior here, but some of them do not like to see these little images in print.

M. H. S. may well be proud of its Seniors whom you see to-day playing in the kindergarten as once all of us were, even "Little Jack" went through it all. Our own Circulation Manager's picture can be seen on another page of this volume.

ATHLETICS

As ATHLETES the Poker team made its debut at BERCADO POKER CLUB in South Bend, five miles east of Mishawaka, on the banks of the Saint Joseph River. Benny Baer was the only individual with anywhere near a perfect record. Manny (known also as Benny) started 162 poker games, and but, for two games he won by hanging on to four aces, would have made a bull's eye. Only once was he eaught using six eards. Better luck next year, Manny!

Our team spent a week training at camp. A splendid group of young athletes were developed into poker stars under the careful tutelage of Coach Kenneth Gerard. A few real crap heavers were uncovered by "The Cook." who was an expert ivory manipulator himself. Coach Cook cleaned up many stray nickels, and Kraus, who was his prize pupil, still mourns his last five minutes of the eventful last work-out. Art Rhompageal is waiting for the next eamp. He lived all winter on the proceeds of one erap game.

The "Camp Store" located across the river made many sales to the city boys at camp--many sales and many donations-mostly unaware donations. Peach cans were, in abundance, found near the bunk houses. Tom Fuson still delights in laughing at the gang for the way he and his accomplice got-one-onthem, one morning about two o'clock when they devoured the contents of a can of peaches while Swainy, Christie, Manny, and Kenny were sawing wood. It might be mentioned that the fellows kept good sleeping hours at eamp. Some say, that on certain nights, one person was known to have had between an hour and a half and two hours sleep.

Many watermelon feasts were held, as well as grape and apple excursions on night trips up the fore-mentioned St. Joe. However, some night trips were made via Lincoln Highway by our two Romeos-yup, you guessed it-Hank Kraus and Curly Freeman. Got a eigarret Curly?

At various times during the course of events, crap and poker practice was interrupted by the untimely visits of Mr. Noble Kizer of Notre Dame who had eharge of the recreation for the sleight-of-hand and bone performers. The recreation department was assisted by Messrs. Walsh, Crowley, and Rockne, of Notre Dame University.

Mr. Kizer had many familiar phrases in his vast vocabulary. Most notable were:

'All right, Kemper, down to the hill and back!"

"I always thought you were a baby, Benny!"

"Tom, you ain't sleeping now, your trying to run!"

"Snap it up, you guys look like 'The-Morning-After-The-Night-Before.' "

"Come on—move!"
1, 2, 3, 4!"

"Hop and straddle!"

"Hank, for the love of mud, down to the hill and back, run!"

"Inhale-Exhale!"

"Duck Waddle!"

The lucky ones will always hold a pleasant memory of camp by one familiar phrase:

This one will never be forgotten:

"Mamma, send me fouh dolla's, I wan'na play poker!"
